The Caroline Medical Group is a Family Medicine group practice located in Burlington, a growing city of over 140,000 people located on Lake Ontario just outside Toronto. The practice operates as a physician sponsored Health Service Organization.

The 7 family physicians, working together with 2 nurse practitioners, a nurse clinician, two social workers, a chiropodist, a dietitian, a family therapist, office staff and an administrator, provide a full range of primary care to approximately 12,000 patients. Services include pediatrics and prenatal care as well as adult and geriatric medicine. All physicians maintain admitting privileges at the Joseph Brant Memorial Hospital and are directly responsible for the daily care of their in-hospital patients as well as being available for first assist in most surgical cases.

The Caroline Medical Group has been a Residency Teaching Practice for the University of Toronto and McMaster University teaching programs since 1974. It also provides placements for Nurse Practitioner (EC) students. The physicians and health providers at the Caroline Medical Group have a strong history and ongoing interest in family medicine-related research.
